

SUSTAINABLE FROM THE GROUND UP

the sustainability of business

MacKay & Sposito, Inc.

MacKay & Sposito, Inc., along with partners; Clark Public Utilities, Northwest Natural, Energy Star and Earth Advantage is pleased to announce the second symposium in the Sustainable From the Ground Up series. This is the last symposium, so don't miss out!

On January 24th we explored how sustainable development policy is changing and what it means to you and your company; the benefits of a well-designed balance between nature and development through a sustainable planning case study; how to market green homes and businesses; and previews of energy efficient products, homes and programs.

In this symposium, to be held on March 7th, we will explore why "green" development means not only doing the right thing, but that it makes good business sense as we delve into the financial and marketing stages of Green Building. Among the group of speakers, Steve Tapio with New Tradition Homes will share his inspirational story as a leader of Green Building in Clark County. Brandon Tauscher, with the non-profit organization Project Green Build, will educate and encourage you on the subjects of owner operating cost benefits as well as the supply-side knowledge necessary in providing for the public demand of green built homes. For a complete list of speakers and more details, visit www.mackaysposito.com.
